General advice for Cornwall, don't trust Sat Nav systems. They can take you down some single track lanes, which theoretically may be the shorter / quicker route but never quite work out that way!

Assuming that you are travelling from outside the county, the easiest route from the A39 are as follows:

1. Direct via Mabe Burnthouse
 2. Or if you wish to collect provisions or get fuel first, a short detour via Asda at Penryn, which is the nearest superstore.
1. From Falmouth University "Treliever" roundabout (double mini roundabouts) at A39 Penryn, at the second mini roundabout, take the second exit signed Mabe Burnthouse.

2. At the University double mini roundabouts at A39 Penryn, at the second mini roundabout, take the first exit. Asda is at the next roundabout.

When leaving Asda, go straight across the roundabout signed for Mabe Burnthouse. At the top of the hill at the staggered junction turn left at the New Inn pub.
